

REMARKS

In performing a post-allowance review of this allowed case, it was discovered that several dependent claims (30-36 and 38-43) erroneously recited the term "method" instead of "computer program product". This was erroneous inasmuch as computer program products are the subject matter being claimed by the independent claims (29 and 37) from which these dependent claims depend. This amendment fixes those errors by replacing the term "method" with the term "computer program product".

In the event that the Examiner finds remaining impediment to a prompt allowance of this application that may be clarified through a telephone interview, the Examiner is requested to contact the undersigned attorney at 801-533-9800.

Dated this 22nd day of February, 2007.
